There's a Good Deal of CURTAIN BUYING

just now, and it's well to know just where to buy to get advantages. Our Curtain room has a reputation; therefore, what you buy here is sure to be new in style—right in price.

HERE'S A FEW INSTANCES:

Three-yard long Ecru or White Nottingham Curtain, finished scallop edge..... 68c PAIR.
Three-yard Fish Net pattern, double mesh Nottingham Curtain, overlock cord edge..... 89c PAIR.
White Curtain, three and half yards long, corded edge, full width, new scroll design..... $1.25 PAIR.

$2.25 a pair—several styles. We only mention one, which is three and half yards long, button-holed edge, while the design is one of those showy scrolls seen in much higher priced wares.

$3.75 is an imitation Renaissance—that is, a Nottingham Curtain woven in renaissance design—very durable.

$4.98 For the size this is one of the cheapest Curtains made—3 1/2 yards long, 54 inches wide. The mesh is a fine twisted Nottingham.

$2.98 A neat bed room Curtain is of Muslin applied with green, edged with white braid; has four-inch ruffle.

Many other styles in Dotted Nets and Ruffle Curtains.

Point Desprit, Irish Point, Cluny, Renaissance, Brussels, Net and Applied Curtains upwards to $35.00 a pair.

Talking About Business Suits.

YOUR BUSINESS SUIT—the suit you live and move and have your being six days in the week, and lay aside on the seventh for your Sunday Suit—need not be high priced to be good; need not be expensive to be genteel; need not cost over $12 or $15 or $18 to give you lots of good service and wear—if you will buy it here. Our BUSINESS SUIT TRADE is splendid in Suits above $10.00, but we have sold twice as many Suits below $20.00 this season as we ever sold before—not because we make a specialty of this kind of suits by any means, but simply because we show a bigger line and better values than others do. Our BUSINESS SUITS are made right and must fit our way—that's the right way.

BENWOOD CITIZENS

Hold an Indignation Meeting and Vigorously Protest

AGAINST PROPOSED REMOVAL

Of the Benwood Southern Railway's Tracks from Main Street to a Hill-side. Location, as Desired by the Company to Avoid the Dangerous Crossing at the Wheeling Steel Works—To Fight It Before Council.

An indignation meeting of Benwood citizens was held last night, at the Benwood city hall, to protest against the proposed removal of the Benwood Southern's tracks from Main street, to the business part of town, to "Kentucky Heights," the popular name for the street on the hillside, east of the Baltimore & Ohio tracks. It was a largely attended and representative gathering, without regard to politics and strongly worded resolutions were adopted to be presented at next Tuesday night's meeting of the Benwood city fathers.

The meeting organized by the selection of William Hall, as chairman, and M. J. Gately, secretary. In due form came remarks from Mainstreet business men, those to be affected principally by a transfer of the tracks, and they united in the belief that their interests would suffer. It was pointed out that they derive a certain amount of revenue from the present location of the tracks, which they would lose were the hillside route granted by council. Among those speaking were Michael Deegan, M. J. Gately, John T. Manley and Joseph Mahood.

Resolutions were adopted unanimously protesting against the change. The resolutions were drafted by a committee consisting of Joseph Mahood, chairman; Paul Hiddle and Charles Schadt. Council was asked in the resolutions to delay action until it heard the views of the citizens. Chairman Hall appointed a committee of five to present the resolutions to council, which action was to be taken such as to be asked further to take such action as will lead to the abolition of the dangerous crossing at the Wheeling steel works, the bone of contention for the railway company desires the hillside route so as to avoid this crossing.

A warm fight is on at Benwood council's meeting. A few nights since the committee on ordinances and streets, alleys and grades recommended favorably the company's petition, and this action alarmed the Main street business men and property holders in the vicinity of the present tracks. On the other hand, there is a spirit of indifference by citizens in other parts of town, and the traveling public is in favor of any change from the dangerous crossing at the steel works. The Wheeling Railway Company would also like to abandon its similar danger spot. Schadt's crossing, and many people believe that at no distant date it will also court the hillside for its Benwood terminus. The establishment of the proposed river bridge from Benwood to Belleair would then meet both railway lines.

AMUSEMENTS.

Of Lewis Morrison's "Faust," which will be seen at the Opera House this afternoon and to-night, one is apt to write panegyrics and continuous eulogies, and praise in strains of joy the vim and virility of the performance, but one cannot attempt to review "Faust" in an hour. At first glance one drinks in its beauty, its power and its greatness. To realize all, however, requires further knowledge gained only by attendance at its presentation. As this will be the last time it will be seen here, it behooves every lover of this masterpiece to embrace the opportunity of witnessing its magnificent production.

Irene Myers.

In the selection of that popular English comedy drama, "The Silver King," for the opening performance of the Little Irene Myers company, at the Grand Monday evening, the management not only had in mind offering its patrons one of the strongest dramas ever written, but that of displaying the individual merits of the company to the best possible advantage. Little Irene assumes the character of Clary Denver, while that of Wilfred Denver is in the hands of Walter Wilson, an actor of much ability. O. W. Roche will be seen as Captain Skinner, and Frank Wallace is responsible for the comedy element in Coombs, the Hebrew accomplice. Helen Diamond, a finished actress, possessing a beautiful face and figure, appears as Nellie Denver, and Hattie Chew as Corbett.

"Humpty Dumpty."

The great pantomime, "Humpty Dumpty," will be at the Opera House, Tuesday and Wednesday nights and Wednesday matinee. The production will be the largest of its kind ever seen in this country and an array of talent seldom mustered in a combination of this character will give a force and finish which is bound to arouse popular interest. The ballet will be under the personal direction of Joseph Smith, whose father played the part of "Harlequin" in the original Humpty Dumpty. Mr. Smith was the ballet master with the Kralitz Bros., while they operated the Eldorado at New York City, where six hundred people were in the ballet. The Queen of Day will be portrayed by Miss Mae Raymond, prima donna soprano of the Castle Square Opera Company, Philadelphia. She is said to be of charming voice and figure. The Queen of Night will be represented by Miss Lee Hobbs Martin, who is said to be the handsomest woman in America. The premiere danseuse is Nadine, a product of Paris. W. H. Bartholomew, the stage manager, was formerly with Matt & Bartholomew, whose presentation of trick and black convulsed the country. In addition to the work as stage manager he will be the pantomime. Eddie McDonald is the clown. Specialty work will be one of the strongest features of Humpty Dumpty. Eight sister teams, that is sixteen young women, will do various turns in dancing and acrobatic work.

"The Highwayman."

It ought to be welcome news to every lover of that most enjoyable and satisfactory form of entertainment, comic opera, that they are going to be given an opportunity of hearing the immensely popular, "The Highwayman," at the Opera House, Thursday, October 24. Of all the successes written by DeKoven and Smith, of "Robin Hood" fame, the coming opera has enjoyed the most widest and greatest run of popularity. Its story is both comic and romantic, and is spiced with the most delicious melody that the famous composer, DeKoven, has ever written. Dick Fitzgerald, a young Irish officer, having been tricked out of a fortune at the gaming table, takes to the King's highway as a free-baker. His sweetheart, Lady Constance, follows him into the wildest haunts to save him from capture by holding up a stage coach to secure the pardon from his enemy. The principal element of the opera is furnished by Foxey Quiller, a character that has become famous as one of the quaintest and funniest stage personages ever invented. He is a blustering, bungling, blathering type of detective, overfitted with conceit and the imagination of his own wonderful power as a sleuth. He suspects everybody, and everything to him is a clue of deep import. He goes through the opera following false scents and complicating the situation by arresting innocent persons and obtruding himself on all occasions.

"A Wise Woman."

It will interest many to learn that the details of the American production of "A Wise Woman," the brilliant comedy by Wilfred Clarke, were carried out under the personal supervision of the author. Mr. Clarke, whose experience as a stage director for many years with Augustin Daly, gave him a wide knowledge of this important branch of dramatic production, is said to have done a most artistic piece of work in the staging of his own comedy. Marie Lamour, until this season a prominent member of the Daly company in New York, is being featured in the title role of "A Wise Woman," and is said to have achieved a remarkable success in the portrayal of this character. Miss Lamour supported by a strong company, will present this comedy at the Opera House, next Friday evening, October 27.

"Two Jolly Rovers."

It is seldom that theatre-goers are afforded the opportunity to witness such a clever farce as "Two Jolly Rovers," which packed the Grand Opera House again last night. It is an unbroken laugh from the rise to the drop of the curtain. All the comedy work is performed by capable men and women, and the songs and dances are contributed by genuine artists, who give the proper interpretation to the latest New York successes. "Two Jolly Rovers" will be repeated at the matinee performance to-day, and the engagement will close to-night.

SATURDAY, October 21st, will be the last day for 1-8 off on Underwear and Shirts at WILL GUTMAN'S, 1311 Market St.
